SIX THOUSAND ENTRIES MADE

Many Exhibits Displayed at State Fair.

Fiftieth Annual Event Opened by Governor Kitchin Yesterday—Record Breaking Crowd—State's Progress Reviewed by Governor—Exhibits From Guilford and Other Counties—Editor of Times Weds.

Raleigh, Oct. 18.—At noon today the fiftieth annual State Fair opened with an address by Governor Kitchin in which he portrayed North Carolina's progress and the growth of the State Fair since 1863 to a great fair with six thousand entries and crowds indicating that there will be fifty to sixty thousand people compared with 4,000 for the first fair. He commended North Carolina's progress in agriculture and manufactures and Raleigh's enterprise and hospitality.

The crowds today were record-breakers and the indications are that with good weather conditions the greatest crowds in the history of the state will gather here Wednesday and Thursday. The exhibits are exceptionally good, not less than two thousand five hundred more entries than the State fair has ever had before. In the agricultural building there are in connection with the corn exhibits alone 93 exhibits by boys in connection with the boy's corn contests and 50 exhibits in connection with the men's contest, those having had special attention the past summer by the state authorities. The premiums in these features alone aggregate over $500.

There are county exhibits by Guilford, Haywood, Alamance, Wake and Chatham counties. The horticultural exhibits are exceptionally fine also, the splendid new reinforced concrete building showing up to splendid advantage.

Tomorrow is Good Roads Day with the State Fair and Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, Road Engineer W. L. Spoon and Editor Varner of Southern Good Roads, are here looking after "Good Roads" talk and stirring interest in connection with exhibits of good roads machinery that surpass any former exhibits of this kind at the State fair.

Editor J. E. Clark, of the Raleigh Evening Times, left today for Charlottesville, Va., where he will be united in marriage tomorrow to Miss Mayo, of that place.

The Plate Ice Co., Wilmington, capital $100,000 by W. L. Parsley, R. A. Parsley and others, was chartered today; others charters were to the Crow Optical Co., Wilmington, capital $25,000 by J. J. Crow, Lumber Bridge; A. H. Currie, Maxton and others; and the Wallburg Improvement Co., Davidson county, capital $5,000, for real estate business.

Chairman D. McEachern, of the New Hanover county board of commissioners, was here today to urge upon Gov. Kitchin that he grant a pardon to a well known contractor of Wilmington named Spivey who has served three weeks of a one years sentence to the county roads for contempt of court committed in the Record's court, the pardon being asked for by the recorder himself as well as by large numbers of the people of the city. The prisoner had been on a spree and was brought into court before he had fully sobered and his friends claim that if he had been in full possession of his faculties the contempt would not have been committed. The governor indicated his willingness to consider the matter just as soon as the papers were put before him in conformity with the rules governing applications for pardons.

Mr. S. N. Cone's Failure on Cotton Exchange.

An Associated Press dispatch sent out from New York Oct. 17 read as follows: "On the Cotton Exchange today notice was posted that by order of the supervisory committee of the exchange the failure of Solomon N. Cone, of Greensboro, N. C., to meet his obligations, has been announced. Cone was formerly a member of the firm of Cone & Hodgepeth, of Greensboro. He has been a member of the Cotton Exchange since 1909. The announcement of the failure had no effect on the cotton market."

"THE BOY WHOM I LOVE"

Actress Writes Book on Motherhood—New Viewpoint.

New York, Oct. 18.—"The Boy Whom I Love," soon to be printed, is a novel of motherhood by Laura Nelson Hall, who played Elsie St. Clair in "The Easiest Way." The book, in fact, a biography of Billy Hallman, the 10-year-old son of the actress.

Miss Hall, who will soon be seen in the chief feminine role in "New York," when A. H. Woods produces that play in the Bijou, has turned out interesting phrases in her story. Here are some: "Every mother wishes her son to develop into an ideal man, and with this ideal in mind she indulges and spoils him."

"Motherhood is essentially selfish. The best of mothers lies to her son stupidly. Throughout her life she never realizes the gross injustice of these fibs."

"Many women desire children just as a little girl craves for a French doll."

"Too many women bring children into the world as a sort of insurance against loneliness and poverty in old age."

"A boy's first passionate craving is for friendship, and few mothers take the joyful position of a loyal, truthful friend."

"A mother should teach her son that the greatest sin before God or man is an untruth."

"If children were consulted in advance, they would refuse probably to be born. Most women never think of this."

Miss Hall's literary aspirations were not known generally until she sold a play to Miss Mary Manning last spring.

STOLE BILLIARD BALLS.

Also, High Silk Hat, Bicycle and Two Automobile Tires—Negro Thief.

The police yesterday arrested John Curry, a negro boy, on the charge of stealing two automobile tires and a bicycle from the garage of Mr. J. E. Latham, North Park drive. Soon after he was placed in the lockup Mr. E. W. Stewart came into the police office and notified Sergeant Pearce that a negro had stolen a handsome silk hat and three ivory billiard balls from the Elks' Club.

He gave a description of a negro boy seen around the place and the officer saw that the description tallied with that of Curry. Taking a billiard ball with him into the calaboose the officer asked Curry where the others were and the negro thinking that he had been caught up with stated that two of the balls were behind the residence of Mr. Devlin on East Washington street, where he had thrown them, and the other one was at his home on Percy street. The hat was at the store of A. Horwitz. The officers found the stolen articles at the places mentioned by Curry.

Curry will be given a hearing on the charges of larceny this morning. He has been in court before.

BUCHANAN STREET PAVING.

Matter To Be Passed Upon At Tonight's Meeting of the Aldermen.

The Board of Aldermen will meet in adjourned session tonight for the purpose of taking action on the proposition to pave Buchanan street with vitrified brick. It will be remembered that at the regular meeting on Friday afternoon action regarding the matter was deferred at the request of Mr. J. N. Wilson, attorney for the Southern Railroad Company, until the grade for the street could be established.

The Southern is willing to assist in the paving of the street, but objects to having to pave the space between the street and the station building. The Street Commission insists that this should be done by the Southern in order that the paving will be uniform. It is believed that the Southern will agree that the entire space be repaved at the same time the work is being done on the street.

MARBLE STATUE OF SEN. RANSOM

Bust Will Arrive by November 10.

State Historical Commission Receives Notice to This Effect—Jesse Edwards Begins Seven Year Sentence For Killing Brother—Praise For Late General Armfield—Successor Will Not Be Named For Several Days.

Raleigh, Oct. 18.—The North Carolina Historical Commission is notified that the marble bust of the late Senator Matthew W. Ransom has been shipped from Paris and will be in Raleigh ready to be set up in its niche in the rotunda of the Capitol by November 10. A letter to this effect is just received by Secretary R. D. W. Connor, of the commission, from Sculptor F. W. Ruckstuhl, who has the commission for the execution of this work. The ceremonies for the unveiling of the statue will take place during the early days of the session of the General Assembly in January. There will be addresses by Hon. T. J. Jarvis and Hon. R. W. Winston, the presentation being by Col. J. Bryan Grimes, for the commission, and the acceptance by Gov. Kitchin. There are two other niches to be filled on the first floor of the rotunda and one of these will be occupied before a great while by a bust of Gov. Samuel Johnson, presented by the Masons of North Carolina.

M. B. Howell, deputy sheriff of Anson county, was here today to commit to the penitentiary Jesse Edwards, a young white man, to serve seven years for killing his brother. The prisoner had been in the insane asylum and the brother had gone to his house to look into the matter of returning him to that institution for treatment when the quarrel arose. The mother of the two men was standing between them as they quarreled when the prisoner snatched the mother away and fired three shots into his brother's body with fatal results.

Both men had property valued at twenty or thirty thousand dollars.

General Carle A. Woodruff, retired United States Army officer, writing of the death of Adjutant General J. F. Armfield, quotes General Fitzhugh Lee as having said on the occasion of his last visit to Raleigh that General Armfield was the best volunteer soldier he ever met. General Woodruff says of him that he was by far the best soldier in North Carolina. General Woodruff's home is in Raleigh, but he is spending some time at New Brighton, Staten Island.

Governor Kitchin says it will be several days before he commissions an adjutant general of the North Carolina National Guard to succeed the late Gen. J. F. Armfield, who died last week in Statesville. In the meantime Col. R. L. Leinster, assistant adjutant general, is in charge of the affairs of the office, devoting his entire time to this work. He is being strongly endorsed by friends in all parts of the state for the appointment as adjutant general. Endorsements are also coming in to the governor for Col. J. N. Craig, of Reidsville, and for Major Lawrence Young, of Asheville, well known members of the guard who are candidates for the appointment. These are the three candidates for the position with no special indications as to which will be successful.

Governor Kitchin made an order today deferring final action as to the case of W. P. Black, Asheville, until December 1 and directing that he be released from the Buncombe jail until that day when he files approval bond for $500. The governor says Black and his counsel are anxious for the Superior court to pass upon his case at the November term and the governor also desires further time to examine the voluminous evidence in the case. Black was sentenced to the roads for maintaining a disorderly house in a prosecution against him in which he was believed to be at least harboring blind tigers. After part of the sentence was served the governor granted a conditional pardon and later the charges of violation of the conditions were made to the governor with the result that his rearrest was ordered made. It is this phase of the case that is now pending and deferred as to final action, to December 1.

NOTED SPEAKER ON TEMPERANCE

Miss Phelps Heard by Appreciative Audience

Urged That Temperance Workers In State Be Active In Efforts To Have Prohibition Law Enforced—Pointed Out Dangers of Near Beer Saloons and Urged Remedying Law—May Speak Here Again.

In West Market Street Methodist church last evening Miss Lillian M. Phelps, the noted temperance lecturer, spoke before an appreciative audience and for nearly an hour she held the close attention of all present. Miss Phelps had been advertised as an eloquent speaker and one who expresses herself with a charm of manner that is captivating and she fully measured up to the expectations of all who heard her.

The speaker among other things pointed out the fact that the temperance people of the State have been in a measure resting on their oars since the State prohibition law was passed. This, she declared, was a mistake; that every effort should be exerted to see that the temperance laws are enforced and that the public sentiment is strong against violations of the law. In this way the people can be made to see the great benefit prohibition is to a State, whereas if the laws are not enforced properly the people will become disgusted with the state of affairs that will inevitably result. She commended in warm terms the work done by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union throughout the State in agitation and education along temperance lines.

Another evil that should be remedied was the near beer traffic, Miss Phelps said. She pointed out that near beer saloons are but little better than saloons and are stepping stones for young men into a life of intemperance. She urged that pressure be brought to bear upon the State legislature to have a law enacted that will prevent the sale of near beer in the State of North Carolina. It was not so much the marvelous facility in the use of words, nor in the matter of the address, but it was rather the breadth of view and the spirit which suffused the heart of the speaker that put her in close touch with her audience. Miss Phelps' logic is sound and convincing and her experience is rich and varied. Those who heard her considered it a treat to be present and if the opportunity is again offered the public to hear her she will no doubt be greeted by an immense audience.

Miss Phelps will be in the State for about two weeks and an effort will be made to have her deliver another lecture in Greensboro. Until she learns of the number of appointments in the State Miss Phelps cannot promise definitely to return, but Greensboro people are hoping that she can be prevailed upon to return here about the last of the month.

The meeting last night was presided over by Mrs. Lucy H. Robertson, who introduced the speaker. Rev. J. W. Long read the scripture lesson, while Rev. S. S. Myrick made the invocation. Special music had been prepared, a special number being a solo by Miss Cartland.

The local authorities at Spray Saturday night captured a two horse wagon, a horse and a mule and 60 gallons of corn whiskey. The outfit was located in the woods near Spray, but the owners fled on the approach of the officers. Deputy Collector H. R. Starbuck was notified and, accompanied by Police Sergeant C. A. Jones, left shortly after midnight for Spray. The entire outfit was turned over to the federal authorities and will be sold. The horse, mule and wagon will be sold at Reidsville while the whiskey will be sold in Raleigh.

HOBGOOD HEARD BY LARGE CROWD

Big Democratic Rally at Proximity.

Guilford Candidate For Senator Made Rousing Speech Last Night—Gen. Royster, Who Was Billed To Speak, Unable To Be Present, But His Place Was Ably Filled by Col. Hobgood—Rally at Oak Ridge Yesterday.

Last night in the hall over the Proximity Mercantile Store at Proximity Col. F. P. Hobgood, Jr., Democratic candidate for Senator from Guilford, made an able and effective speech before some three hundred Democrats of the village, Gen. B. S. Royster, who was billed for a speech, was unable to be present on account of illness, but his place was ably filled by Col. Hobgood, who spoke for about an hour.

It was an enthusiastic gathering of Democrats that greeted the speaker and time and again he was liberally applauded. He discussed the more important issues of the campaign in a straightforward manner that commanded the close attention of the Republicans who had gathered to hear the speaker as well as the Democrats and some Republicans openly stated after the speech that they felt the truth of the statements made by the speaker. The Proximity Democrats, also those of Revolution and White Oak, are enthusiastic and promise a considerable increase in the Democratic strength in the township this fall.

The county candidates were at Oak Ridge yesterday where they were greeted by more than two hundred Democrats of the vicinity. Mr. E. J. Justice was the principal speaker and he received considerable applause as he defined the platforms of the two parties and condemned the stand taken by the Republicans regarding the tariff. Oak Ridge township is working to secure the largest majority this fall ever given in the township. Democratic leaders in that section state that they have no fear but that this will be accomplished.

Last night Mr. Justice went down to Thomasville where he made a speech before a good-sized crowd of local Democrats.

The county candidates will be at Summerfield today.

WASHINGTON IS COMING.

Colored Men of City Subscribe Funds Sufficient To Guarantee His Presence Here Two Days.

"It is remarkable how generally the people throughout the city, both black and white, are delighted over the coming of Dr. Booker T. Washington and his party to our city on the 30th instant," says E. A. Adkins, chairman of the financial committee of the local Business Men's League and member of the executive committee of the State Business Men's League. "In a few hours yesterday $100 was raised in cash and that sum has been sent to the committee having in charge Dr. Washington's tour, thereby making Greensboro's quota toward defraying expenses of the tour and giving absolute certainty to his presence not only on the 30th instant but also on the 31st."

"It is hoped and expected that our league will secure the Auditorium for the speaking and that seating arrangements will be so effected as to happily accommodate all desirous of hearing Dr. Washington."

"It has been decided that an admission fee of twenty-five and fifteen cents will be charged, thus making it possible for everybody to hear him. If successful in securing the auditorium we shall use our best endeavors to arrange seats so as to insure a clear hearing of all speakers by the audience."

FOUND A WAY FOR DIVORCE

Poet's Wife Had Door Slammed in Face And Got Decree.

Winchester, Va., Oct. 17.—Mrs. Nora Virginia Orndorff has at last succeeded in severing the matrimonial ties that bound her to E. Summers Orndorff, the Frederick county poet of some little notoriety.

About the only grounds that either had was incompatibility. The eccentricities of the poet genius annoyed the light-hearted wife and the wife's frivolities were unbearable to the poet.

The court concluded neither had grounds for divorce and dismissed the cases. Orndorff retired to his bungalow on the mountain and Mrs. Orndorff remained in town. In dismissing the case the judge remarked that if Orndorff refused to receive his wife at their home it would put a different light on the case.

Orndorff forgot this, but not Mrs. Orndorff. After a few days' wait she went to the bungalow, applied for admittance and had the door slammed in her face by Orndorff. She returned to town, consulted her lawyer, her bill was amended, and yesterday she was awarded a divorce.

HIS TRUEST COUNSELLOR.

Tribute Joseph Chamberlain Has Paid His Wife, An American.

The loyalty and wisely devotion of Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain, wife of one of the greatest figures in English political circles of today, is the talk of two continents. Before her marriage to the British statesman she was Miss Mary Endicott, of Salem, daughter of the late Hon. William C. Endicott, who, under President Cleveland, was Secretary of War.

Some years ago "Joe" Chamberlain was suddenly taken sick, and during his illness, which even his most intimate friends feared was his last, his wife was ever by his side. She seldom left the sick room, and although there were nurses, she insisted in caring for him herself. She was to him what Mrs. Gladstone was to England's great premier in his last sickness.

And now that Chamberlain is better, much better, it is said, she has even a harder task to perform for the old war horse is longing to jump into harness once more, and it is her work to keep him quiet until he is really fit.

In the great campaigns which her husband has fought and won, she has been his best friend and adviser, and during the crisis attending the wind-up of the Boer War she was his greatest help.

"In all the storm and turmoil and stress of the troublous times from which we are now emerging," Chamberlain said in a speech at Birmingham on the eve of his departure for South Africa, "I have had at least one source of solace, in my wife. When under the double burden of the great responsibility that had fallen on me, and the venomous attack and lying misrepresentation of our professional enemies, my courage seemed like falling, her wise counsel, her unbroken optimism sustained me."

"She has fortified me by her courage and cheered me by her sympathy. I have found in her my best and truest counsel." This is the tribute of Joseph Chamberlain to his wife, a New England girl.

And she is an American through and through.

"You are not a bit like an American," Queen Victoria once said to her. And she responded:

"That is the very worst compliment that you could possibly pay me."

KEPT HER BUSY.

The Way She Tried to Discover the Telephone Numbers.

"I don't believe that the public schools teach their graduates to use their minds," remarked a well known citizen of Philadelphia the other day. "Here's a story just to illustrate what I mean:

"I got a secretary last summer who had just been graduated with high honors from the Commercial high school. She had been picked out for me as the best girl in her class, and I found her excellent in all that required methodical, parrot-like work.

"One day I jotted down some telephone numbers that I wanted to remember and, having a poor memory, forgot in the course of the morning whose the numbers were or what the business was upon which I wanted to phone.

"So I called Miss Blank just as I was going out and said, 'Before you get your luncheon I wish you'd find out for me those telephone numbers are.'

"Two hours later I came back, and Miss Blank was sitting at her desk, weary and perseveringly studying the telephone book.

"I asked her if she had got some letters written that I had left, if she had lunched, if she had done several little things. She said no and then explained:

"You see, it takes me a long time to read through the book till I come to the numbers you want," she said. "I haven't had time to do anything else!" —Philadelphia Times.

Took the Advice.

The president of one of the prominent railway corporations in America was making a stirring address to an audience of young men and dwelt with particular emphasis on the necessity of making a good appearance.

"When you are looking for work," he said, "be careful that you are presentable. If you have only $24 in the world, spend $20 for a suit of clothes, $3.50 for a pair of shoes, 50 cents for a hair cut and shave. Then walk up to the job wherever it is and ask for it like a man."

This advice was greeted with great applause, and the railway president sat down amid a storm of cheers. The very next morning a dapper looking young fellow walked into the outer office of the orator and, handing a note to the clerk, said, "Please give this to the president." The note read as follows:

"I have paid $20 for this suit of clothes, $3.50 for a pair of shoes and 50 cents for a hair cut and a shave. I have walked from Harlem, and I would like a job as conductor on your road."

He got the job.

He Didn't Borrow.

A reference book on Russian history being needed right on the spot, the literary rack said he guessed he would go around to Clarke's to borrow his. He went to Clarke's, but he came back without the book.

"Didn't he have it?" the man's wife asked.

"He did, but I hadn't the nerve to ask for it. Clarke's plan of advertising book borrowers scared me off. Before I had a chance to mention Russian history he steered me past shelves where every few inches a dummy stood sandwiched in between real books. The labels on all the books were conspicuous, black lettering on white, and they set forth some mighty interesting statistics.

"Three Musketeers," borrowed March 25 by John Smith. Not returned." After I had read about a dozen of those dummy labels I said it was a fine day, wasn't it. Clarke said yes, it was, and I came away. To advertise to subsequent visitors that I had borrowed one of Clarke's best books was a little too much notoriety for me." —New York Sun.

French Servants' Characters.

It is an unwritten law in France that you must never say anything bad about a servant or employee in his "character"—that is to say, if you cannot say anything good you must content yourself with a noncommittal statement which will not compromise his prospects. For instance, if you have caught your cook robbing you in such a shameful and impudent fashion that you are obliged to dismiss her you may not state on her "certificate" that you have dispensed with her services because you found she was dishonest. That, it is held, might prevent her obtaining a situation elsewhere, and as every one has to earn his bread the cook must be given the opportunity of recommending her larceny elsewhere. All that you are entitled to say on her "character" if you will not lie and pay her compliments is that she entered and left your service on certain dates. —Paris Letter to London Globe.

Restored Confidence

By DANIEL A. GREENE

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

Paul Kaisarovich was sitting in his room in St. Petersburg when he heard the tread of a number of persons on the staircase coming up. Every vestige of color left his face.

There was a great surprise in store for Kaisarovich. The first person to step into the room was Peter Eukoff, who was not only a member of the same revolutionary circle as himself, but his intimate friend. Eukoff said to the officer in charge of the police force, nodding toward Kaisarovich, "There is your man."

"Peter," gasped Kaisarovich, "what is the meaning of this? Can it be possible that you are a traitor?"

"No; I am not a traitor, for I entered the circle in order to inform the government of its treasonable designs."

Kaisarovich was led away muttering a curse on the head of the man who had betrayed him. He was taken to the office of the minister of police, where he underwent a searching ordeal. Asked about the circle of which he had been a member, not one word would he say. Torture was applied, but he endured it without giving up any information.

When the next gang of political prisoners went to Siberia Kaisarovich was among them. No information as to whether others of his circle had been arrested or if so what had been done with them reached him. His imprisonment was embittered by the fact that a man he had loved had betrayed him. His faith in anything good had been blighted. His friend had been so much to him that he had no thought of revenge. He never wished to see Eukoff again, and if he should be felt that the sight would be simply melancholy.

One day while Kaisarovich was brooding there came a sound of a stroke on a metal pipe running through the prison for the purpose of heating it. He thought nothing of it till two strokes were given in quick succession, then two others and two others, when he knew that some one was striking the pipe either above or below. He had learned the code by which prisoners communicate by means of these pipes and listened. What he heard he judged to be a call. But the sounds would be heard in other cells besides his own. He did not think the two strokes together to be for any special person, but a general invitation for attention. Presently the sounds began to indicate letters under the code. The letter P was given, then A U L in succession. Paul is a common name in Russia, and Kaisarovich did not consider for a moment that any one was calling him. But when the letters "Kaisarovich" were indicated he was astonished. He had no friends among the prisoners and could not imagine who could have anything to communicate to him. The only thing he had in his cell to hammer with was the sole of his shoe, and with this he spelled out the words "Who is it?"

The answer caused Kaisarovich to clutch his forehead in dread lest his sufferings had made him mentally an imbecile. The name given was that of Peter Eukoff.

When Kaisarovich regained his equanimity he had lost a part of what had followed the name. What he caught was this:

"Noble conduct. It has strengthened your friends in their confidence in human nature and that enough true men and women exist to make Russia free."

Paul took up his shoe and telegraphed back as follows:

"Is this Peter Eukoff, who betrayed me?"

The answer came: "You were betrayed to save your companions. Arrests were to be made among us that would have divulged all our purposes. Ten of us agreed that if we could concentrate suspicion upon you the government might kill you, but could never extort a secret from you. It was agreed that I should gain the confidence of the government by informing of my best friend and name as members persons not of the circle and who would have time to get away. No one of us has suffered except you, and I am here to save you."

Of the different causes for rejoicing contained in this message the fact that the man Paul loved had done the apparent act of treachery for a purpose was the chief. Of all the moments of Paul Kaisarovich's life this was the happiest. He telegraphed back:

"I glory in my sufferings since I have saved my friends and have my confidence in you restored."

Peter Eukoff had promised the minister if he would send him a supposed prisoner to Siberia he would get from certain prisoners there information the government very much desired. Eukoff was sent in chains, but with a letter to the governor of the prison stating that he was really a spy on other prisoners. In this way he obtained access to Kaisarovich and secured permission to take him to a certain point where information was to be derived through his influence. When the two men got beyond the prison guards they set off through the wilderness and after many months of suffering reached the boundary of Sweden. There they found other political exiles, who helped them with funds to reach America. Kaisarovich is now worshipped almost as a God by the revolutionists, and Eukoff is considered one of their most efficient workers.

A pugilist has been murdered. Sad, but no doubt he had been nearly murdered several times before.

All this beautiful October weather had to be offset in some way and so Cuba had the worst storm in its history. The storm is said to be traveling up the Atlantic coast and no doubt it will make itself felt in these parts.

And so Walter Wellman has "come back." But in view of what has been accomplished already in aerial travel, it is not at all safe to predict that no one will ever "fly" across the Atlantic ocean.

News item says that "the royal Portuguese exiles left Gibraltar, King Manuel sailing for England and the Queen Dowager for Italy." They certainly can't be feeling "royal" in view of the speed with which they hustled away from the seat of trouble.

The Telegram has been presented by Mr. J. L. Haynes with a handsome cluster of October blackberries. He tells us of other signs that for the past few weeks we have been having summer rather than fall weather. Undoubtedly October so far has been a record breaker for warm weather this late in the season.

New York has three parties in full blast—the Democratic, the Republican and the Independence League. The entry of the third party into the field complicates the situation considerably. Many Republicans will vote for the Democratic candidate and the Independence League will draw from both parties. The betting in New York is in favor of the Democratic candidate and the instinct of the men who bet on elections is usually a tolerably safe guide. But for the Third Party we believe that the election of Dix, the Democratic candidate, would be practically assured.

Cities which failed to make good in Uncle Sam's nose-count are now trying to extend their territory. Baltimore vows that she is "hobbled" and it seems to be a fact that had Baltimore the area of some of the cities in its class it would take higher rank. But securing "the greater city" is a big undertaking. As a rule those who are outside the limits went there on purpose and they are ready to set up a "rough house" as soon as there is talk of giving them a chance to support the city government. At the same time there are disadvantages in a city's being "hobbled."

It is not unusual, of course, that, on the verge of a congressional election, Democratic newspapers and Democratic orators should be figuring out in advance a clear majority in the next Congress. There never was a gloomy prospect that looked gloomy to the eternally hopeful Democratic forecasters when the election was three weeks off. Ten weeks ago Democratic expectations were based upon the belief that there would be an irreparable dissension in the Republican party in many states over issues on which party sentiment was more or less divided. As election day approaches these early signs of discord are vanishing in practically every congressional district, East and West. But the organs and the spellbinders are never without a reason for the faith that is in them, and the shadowy reason upon which they are now basing the forecasts that the next Congress will have a Democratic majority is that "this is a Democratic year."—Baltimore American.

It is true that the Democrats have been using the expression, "this is a Democratic year." But they haven't, as the American states, offered it as a "reason." They have offered it as a conclusion, based on Vermont, Maine, districts in New York and Massachusetts, and other signs and tokens. The signs and portents indicate decided Democratic gains this year and the Democratic prophets have a better "reason" for the faith that is in them than that ascribed to them by the American.

RADIUM LAST RESOURCE

Dr. Wickham, of Paris, Says It Should Be Final Appeal.

Baltimore Sun.
Dr. Lewis Wickham, of Paris, delivered an illustrated lecture on the use of radium in the treatment of cancers, tumors and skin diseases at the meeting of the Johns Hopkins Hospital Medical Society last night.

Dr. Wickham strongly advocated the co-operation of the surgeon in the treatment of cases where radium is employed. In a number of cases exhibited by lantern slides growths of various kinds had been removed without leaving any apparent scar.

"Radium," he said, "should be used as a last resort after all other methods had failed. In cases of the diseases of the skin the treatment should not be applied until the treatment of the dermatologist had failed to bring any results. In cases of tumors, cancers or other growths it should not be resorted to until the surgeon is unable to give relief or cure."

Dr. Louis V. Hamman presided and introduced Dr. Wickham.

At the end Dr. Howard A. Kelly was called upon to discuss the lecture. Dr. Kelly said he had upon one occasion used radium in the treatment of a tumor with success. He said the price of it was so high in this country that it almost made it prohibitive.

WOMAN AS NURSE

English Medico Says She Should Attend Only Own Sex.

New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A very interesting statement was made the other day by Dr. Renshaw, at the Catholic Congress at Leeds, England. He boldly affirmed that a strange woman in a man's sick room was an intruder, and that she had no right to be an attendant on a strange man. According to the doctor, only male nurses should attend male patients, and only female nurses should attend female patients.

Now, while every one has a strong reverence for the nursing profession, Dr. Renshaw's remarks have called attention to an important matter that ought by no means, to be overlooked. The question of morals in medicine has long ago been allowed to drop into limbo, and people tacitly accept conditions that, were they to consider them more deeply, they would condemn out of hand. Dr. Renshaw will probably be accused of "prudery" and "Puritanism," but it is safe to say that, did parents know what their daughters would have to go through they would think a dozen times before allowing them to become nurses at hospitals where male patients are admitted.

No one has a word of quarrel against the great self-sacrifice of most nurses; every one is forced to admit that, in the vast majority of cases, they are noble women, doing a noble work. That is suggested here is that the conditions of their lives would be very much bettered were they obliged to nurse only patients of their own sex.

Fishing Pond and Pie Social.

Saturday night at Mr. W. A. Aydellette's, near Midway Presbyterian church, there will be a fishing pond and pie social. There will be plenty of old-fashioned chicken and pumpkin pies. The public is extended a most cordial invitation to attend. Proceeds for benefit of Midway church.

"Don't Let the Girls Get You."

That's the theme that runs through the song of that name now being sung with immense success in the great musical farce, "Alma, Where Do You Live?"

The words of the song are by George V. Hobart, the well-known author, while Jean Briquet is given credit for the music.

This is the song and the play that is drawing the crowds to Weber's Theatre, New York City.

And it is this song—the words and music complete—that will go free as a special feature with each copy of next Sunday's New York World.

A great newspaper and a great song for a few cents. Order a copy from your newsdealer in advance.

How the Natives Treat Gorillas.

Natives in the countries inhabited by great apes regard them always as human beings of inferior types, and it is for this reason that for a long time it was found impossible to get hold of an entire gorilla skin, because the savages considered it religiously necessary to cut off the hands and feet of the animals when they killed them. Just as they do with their enemies, possibly for the purpose of rendering them harmless in case they should by any chance come to life again.

Perhaps.

Mr. Clubman—I see by the papers that a poor young man who lost both his legs while saving the life of a beautiful hennepin at a railway crossing is to marry the girl. She dismissed all suitors and offered herself to him. Mrs. C. (meaningly)—Very sensible girl. She'll know where her husband is nights anyway.

Badly Balanced.

A witty Frenchman wrote at the commencement of this century a very interesting and amusing book bearing the title, "Les Agremens et les Chagrins des Mariages." In this work the first four pages are devoted to the "agremens" (joys) and the remaining 350 to the "chagrins" (sorrows).

A Comparison.

Several times had little Mary looked wonderingly out of the window, watching the full moon rise. Then a thought seemed to strike her.

"Mamma," she remarked ingenuously, "doesn't it look just like dad's head when you see it over the top of his easy chair back?"

DR. JOHN C. CLAPP DEAD.

Former Greensboro Citizen Passes Away At His Home In Whitsett.

Whitsett, Oct. 18.—Dr. John C. Clapp died at his home here last night at midnight, after an illness of about two weeks. He was seriously sick last winter and had never fully regained his strength, although for the past six months he was able to be up and to partially attend to his affairs. In his weakened condition he was not able to resist a severe cold contracted some weeks ago. He was 73 years old.

Dr. Clapp was the son of the late Capt. Joshua Clapp, and although born in this community his early life was spent in Indiana in the practice of his profession, dentistry. He was married near Indianapolis, Indiana. About twenty years ago he returned to North Carolina and for some years lived at the old homestead. Later he built at Whitsett, and after educating his children in the school here moved to Greensboro where he made his home for some years. Three years ago he returned to this place and built an elegant colonial home for himself and family where he lived at the time of his death. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Nellie B. Clapp, and two children, Mrs. Robert E. Buck, and Mr. Ernest Clapp, clerk of the Superior court of Guilford county, both of Greensboro. There are many relatives scattered throughout the state.

Dr. Clapp was a public spirited citizen, and during all his active years he was greatly interested in education, and took a deep interest in everything pertaining to the upbuilding of his State and community. He was kind and genial and made and held friends easily. He was especially helpful in sickness, and many will recall his sympathy and helpful deeds in hours of darkness and affliction.

The funeral services will be held at the home at 11 a. m. Wednesday morning, Oct. 19, and after the services the burial will take place in the cemetery in Greensboro.

TOO MUCH WOMAN, SAYS RECTOR

Rev. Dr. C. E. MacKenzie Gives This As Reason For Resigning.

Zanesville, Ohio, Oct. 18.—"Too much woman," is the way Rev. Dr. C. E. MacKenzie, former rector of fashionable and aristocratic St. James' Episcopal church, this city, in an open letter, styled his "farewell" to the local press. Mr. MacKenzie resigned several days ago, following a period of dissension in the church, which seemed to have culminated in an attempt to cut his salary.

He left for Gallipolis, Ohio, where he has accepted a charge. Dr. MacKenzie says the vestry of the church is a joke. "There are good men on the vestry, but they can only do what the women will let them," he said. Four years ago Rev. F. W. Boppe, predecessor of Dr. MacKenzie, quit the church and the ministry under charges of immorality.

Be sure you are right and you will also be pretty sure everybody else is wrong.

MUCH INTEREST IN GOLF TOURNAMENT

Fall Event With Golfers Begins This Afternoon—The Finals on Friday—The Club Membership Increasing—Several Prizes To Be Awarded To Successful Golfers In Tournament.

There is considerable interest being taken in the fall golf tournament, the qualification match of which will be played on the golf links this afternoon at 4 o'clock if the weather permits. The semi-finals will be played on Thursday afternoon and the finals of the tournament on Friday afternoon.

There will be a men's tournament, a ladies' tournament and a boys' tournament. In the first three prizes will be offered, while there will be a prize in both the ladies' and boys' tournament. A large number of golf enthusiasts will contest for the several prizes and the prospects are for a fine tournament.

Since the local club secured the services of Mr. George Eddy, the English golf instructor, the interest in golf has steadily increased, as has the membership of the club. The links are in fine shape and some of the golfers are out practicing daily.

BROOKLYN WOMAN CLAIMS HIM

Harvey O. Brown, $200 Groom, Said to Have Wife and Family.

Washington, Oct. 18.—Sensational elements in the marriage of Miss Eugenie Schumaker-Sauer, of Vienna, Austria, and Harvey O. Brown, of this city, which was declared invalid by Judge Bundy, of the Municipal court of the District, after he had united the couple on Friday and later made the discovery that the bride was the eccentric "Miss Eugenie Adams," were brought to light by the receipt of a letter by the receipt of a letter by Judge Bundy from Mrs. H. E. Dilks, 316 Tenth street, Brooklyn, N. Y., saying the bridegroom bears a strong resemblance to her missing husband, H. E. Dilks, formerly of Brooklyn.

The letters tell a story of desertion and possible bigamy on the part of the Brooklyn man, and was made public by Judge Bundy, who felt the case should be thoroughly ventilated. Along with the letter was inclosed a photograph of her husband, which bears a startling resemblance to Brown, the "$200 husband." There is also a clipping from a New York evening paper, with a picture of Brown as he appeared on his wedding day. The letter reads:

"Upon seeing this picture I find it bears a startling resemblance to my husband, H. E. Dilks, as I knew him, missing since August 10. Find photograph inclosed, taken when a young man. He has deserted me before, but has always returned. I have two children—a boy 15 and a girl 3 years. I have been married 16 years."

"Miss Adams," who gave her real name as Schumaker-Sauer when placed under oath in securing a license with Brown, according to a report in an afternoon paper, was offering $200 for a husband. It was explained that she had a fortune awaiting her in Germany, which necessitated marriage. The search for a husband went on for several days and then Brown came to the fore as a candidate and was accepted. Prior to the ceremony, however, a contract was entered into by the parties to the marriage to the effect that immediately after the ceremony they were to separate and never attempt to see and communicate with each other.

Unknown to anyone, they stole off last Friday afternoon and secured a license. The couple then proceeded to the office of Judge Bundy, where the nuptial knot was tied without witnesses. At the conclusion of the ceremony a lawyer and several other court habitués recognized the pair, who left the Municipal court building and went their way. Brown receiving his marriage "portion" of $200 in coin of the realm.

About 15 minutes afterward the negro janitor of the Municipal court informed Judge Bundy he had married the notorious "Miss Adams."

The Judge said today he expected to return the photograph to Mrs. Dilks in Brooklyn without taking any further steps in the case.

His Sister Dying.

Mr. Andrew Joyner received a telegram last night, announcing that his oldest sister, Miss Lucy Joyner, who recently went to a hospital in Washington for treatment, was dying. Mr. Joyner left on the twelve forty five train for Washington, via Raleigh.

MISS SALLIE BRENT DEAD.

Beloved Christian Woman Passed Away Yesterday Morning—Funeral Today.

Her many friends throughout the entire city and county will regret to learn of the death of Miss Sallie Brent, which occurred yesterday morning at 3:30 o'clock at her home, 127 Church street. She was 78 years of age and had been an invalid for the past year. She grew seriously ill only a few days ago.

Miss Brent was born in Rockingham county on Nov. 9, 1838. Her parents were John Newton Brent and Julia Settle Brent. They moved to Greensboro when Miss Brent was only a little girl and she has lived here ever since. She was the last of a family of 11 children to lay down the cares of life. The deceased was educated at Greensboro Female College and after her graduation taught in the city schools for more than twenty years.

She had been a devout member of West Market Street Methodist church since girlhood, being the oldest female member of the congregation. She was a charter member of the Foreign Missionary Society and for years was one of the most active workers in that body. Until the past year she was a regular attendant at all church services and for a number of years taught a Sunday school class. In fact, her entire life was one of service and devotion to others, often bringing rays of sunshine into lives and homes to dispel the gloom. No woman in Greensboro had more friends than Miss Brent and hundreds will feel in her death a personal loss.

Only three relatives survive, Mrs. G. W. Whitsett, of this city; Mrs. John Leak Little, of Morven, N. C., and Miss Jennie Brent, of Wadesboro, all nieces of the deceased. Mrs. Little and Miss Brent will be unable to be here for the funeral on account of illness.

The funeral will be held from the residence of Dr. G. W. Whitsett, Church street, this morning at 10:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. D. M. Litaker, pastor of Centenary church, Rev. E. K. McLarty, pastor of the deceased, being out of the city. The interment will follow in Green Hill cemetery, the following to act as pall bearers: Messrs. C. H. Dorset, N. L. Enre, T. C. Hoyle, J. J. Stone, J. W. Landreth, O. F. Pearce.

The proprietor of the picture show should have no difficulty in getting a move on.

IT SAVES YOU MONEY.

The special half price sale of Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia by Howard Gardner means the saving of a few dollars on every family's yearly bill for medicines. Mr. Gardner has so much faith in the superior merit of this medicine that he says: "If Dr. Howard's specific does not cure you, come back to my store and I will return your money."

This remedy is not an ordinary medicine. It is the favorite formula of a well known physician, and has the endorsement of hundreds of physicians of eminence in their profession who prescribe it in all cases of constipation, dyspepsia or liver trouble, knowing from experience that it will make a complete and lasting cure.

THE DIFFERENCE

between a dollar saved and a dollar spent is just two dollars. Did it ever occur to you that way? It's worth thinking about.

Another difference is the feeling you have afterward. The dollar saved gives you a feeling of real pleasure—it may call for a little sacrifice for the time being, but afterward you feel better for having denied yourself and the dollar is still yours. That is the nice thing about having money in the bank—you have saved it—it is still yours—you can have it when you wish.

We make it a part of our business to urge you to have a bank account at this bank, for it not only helps our business but yours more so.

DIATOMITE.

Infusorial Earth Formed by Bodies of Minute Shellfish.

Diatoms are tiny creatures that multiply very rapidly until they form a scum upon the surface of the water in many parts of the world. They are rarely more than one-hundredth part of an inch in diameter and often considerably less. Their shells are composed of silica, and these shells are well known to the microscopist on account of their great beauty.

When the little creatures die the shells sink to the bottom of the stream or pond, where they form a kind of siliceous mud, and there are vast deposits of this material in various parts of the earth. This infusorial earth, as it is called, has been christened diatomite, and it is being used for a variety of purposes under the name kieselguhr. It is employed as a vehicle or absorbent for nitroglycerin, and the resultant paste is dynamite. Diatomite is an excellent nonconductor of heat, and in this capacity it is used for filling the hollow interiors of the walls of safes, as a lining for stoves and furnaces and as a covering for steam pipes and boilers. For such purposes as these it has an advantage over asbestos in the matter of price and also of weight.

It can be made into bricks or slabs by the addition of a small quantity of lime or clay, and these bricks can be raised to a white heat without showing any signs of fusion.

Diatomite occurs in great quantities in the United States, in Prussia, in parts of Scotland, in Canada and to a lesser degree in Western Australia and New Zealand.—Harper's Weekly.

Capt. Bogardus Again Hits the Bull's Eye.

This world famous rifle shot who holds the championship record of 100 pigeons in 100 consecutive shots is living at Lincoln, Ill. Recently interviewed, he says:—"I suffered a long time with kidney and bladder trouble and used several medicines, all of which gave me no relief until I started taking Foley Kidney Pills. Before I used Foley Kidney Pills I had severe backaches and pains in my kidneys with suppression and a cloudy voiding. On arising in the morning I would get dull headaches. Now I have taken three bottles of Foley Kidney Pills and feel 100 per cent better. I am never bothered with my kidneys or bladder and again feel like my own self." Sold by Howard Gardner.

BOTH WERE STARTLED.

An Astonished Woman and a Still More Astonished Leopard.

Kula is a district in the Himalayas consisting of a chain of the most lovely valleys conceivable, with this drawback, among others, that each hill path that runs by the inhabitants' huts, more often than not contains a lurking leopard. One day a worthy Kula housewife came out from her cooking and, standing on the edge of rock, emptied a pan of boiling water into the rank herbage growing below. It fell splash on the back of a sleeping leopard, who jumped perpendicularly into the air as high as the roof of the hut.

What might have happened next who can say? But the astonished woman dropped the pan with a clang on the rock, and the leopard took one leap downhill. The pan followed, and the leopard's downward leaps became longer and swifter as the pan bounded after it from rock to rock. When last seen that leopard had just achieved a leap of about 350 feet to the very bottom of the ravine, thousands of feet below, and the pan whirled about 500 feet over it on to the opposite side.

The leopard would have eaten the old woman with pleasure, but a pan, the contents of which first scalded half the hide off him and then bounded, clanging in his wake, from the top of the Himalayas to the plains below was something he could not face.

The Making of a Boss.

"Your enemies are calling you a boss." "Yes," replied Senator Sorghum. "What are you going to do for it?" "Well, in order to avoid being called a quitter or a mollycoddle I guess I'll have to make good my right to the title."—Washington Star.

"It Beats All."

This is quoted from a letter of M. Stockwell, Hannibal, Mo. "I recently used Foley's Honey and Tar for the first time. To say I am pleased does not half express my feelings. It beats all the remedies I ever used. I contracted a bad cold and was threatened with pneumonia. The first dose gave great relief and one bottle completely cured me." Contains no opiates. Sold by Howard Gardner.

Evidently a Bride.

"What's the trouble now?" "Lady wants to know if we'll take seven silver plated berry spoons in exchange for a tin coffee pot."

To the struggling dramatist the height of realism is real money.

In turning over a new leaf it is a good plan to use a little mullage.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

stops the cough and heals lungs

THIS PHYSICIAN HAD BRIGHT'S

Report on the case of Dr. C. C. Simmons, of San Antonio, Texas:

Was taken down with Bright's Disease several years ago. The patient, being an old-school physician, visited many of the best specialists in the U. S. Was told that he could not live long and was advised to go to Excelsior Springs, Mo.

Was there advised by the consulting physician to change the treatment to Fulton's Renal Compound.

Case responded slowly but steadily, it requiring between one and two years to remove the albumen and effect a recovery.

The last three reports showed no albumen and during the past year patient advises that he has done more mental work than he had done altogether in the five years previous.

Being a graduate physician, Dr. Simmons, realizes the importance of his recovery, and unsolicited wrote a personal letter, giving above facts and saying that if we didn't tell the people of the South about it that he would do it himself.

Physicians who still believe in the incurability of chronic Bright's Disease will probably get an interesting letter if they will write Dr. Simmons. The new emollient treatment for Bright's and chronic kidney disease, Fulton's Renal Compound, can be had in Greensboro from Fariss-Klutznick Drug Co.

We desire to hear from and advise patients not noting improvement by the third week. Literature mailed free. John J. Fulton Co., 645 Battery street, San Francisco, Cal. We invite correspondence with physicians who have obstinate cases.

THE PERILS OF LIFE IN THE CITY

Dr. Swift Says Many Forget Life In Spiritual World.

Baltimore Sun.
Rev. Dr. Polemus H. Swift, pastor of Madison Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, gave the second of a series of sermons on "Modern Messages to Modern Young Folk" last night. In part he said:

"The city is the storm centre of modern civilization. The tides of life are running strongly toward it. Cities are always strategic points for good or ill. Here are congregated the enemies of the state, the church, the home and the social order. Here the percentage of illiteracy is greatest and the fight with poverty most intense. Here the number of saloons per capita is most alarming and the underworld exerts its most diabolical influence. Here are pitfalls and deadfalls that are set for the ruin of young men and women and the jungles in which humanity is lost. Here you will find the harpies that prey upon the innocent. Here are dens of darkness and sinkholes of iniquity. Here are the fountain heads of pauperism and crime, the festering cesspools of political corruption, the rendezvous of the criminal classes and the enemies of the white life.

"In the city as nowhere else men and women are in danger of putting second things first. That is true just because the city is a place of superlative opportunities. Here are gigantic business institutions and complicated railroad systems that are bidding high for young people of pluck, push, nerve, energy and bulldog perseverance. Here the doors into the temple of knowledge stand open wide. Here are great universities, splendid schools, immense libraries, superlative hospitals and superior advantages of every kind. Here there are open doors into the temple of service. Here is the church at its best.

"Man was created for life in two worlds. There is a spiritual Master as well as business employers. The supreme business in the world is the growing of a soul. It is always folly to put second things first. We shall make a great mistake if we allow the voices of commerce to drown the call of the Christ. Here is a real peril of the city. We must stand against it with all the will, backbone, courage, determination and enthusiasm that we can command.

"Shall Baltimore spell success or doom? That is a question. Consider and tell me what answer I shall take back to the Master who sent me to you?"

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

Some people seem to acquire all their polish on their shoes.

Two Short Words,
"The best," well describes the satisfaction every user feels when he tries Vick's Croup and Pneumonia Salve for his head or chest cold, or his croupy child. It is a comfort, a cure and a joy. Try a jar and get your money back if not pleased.

PALESTINE.

Many Ways in Which It Strikingly Resembles California.

Palestine is more like the state of California than any other in the Union in everything except size. It lies between longitude 34 degrees 30 minutes and 36 degrees 30 minutes east and between latitude 30 degrees 30 minutes and 33 degrees 45 minutes north. It is practically a California reduced to about one-twentieth in size, but markedly similar in general topography, climate, vegetation and agricultural and economic possibilities.

Like California, Palestine is longest from north to south. Like California, too, it has both very high mountains, having an elevation of 9,000 to 10,000 feet, and very deep depressions. The Dead sea, 1,200 feet below sea level, is the greatest depression known, and, like the Death valley of California, it is situated in the southern extremity of the country.

In Palestine, just as in California, we have a dry, warm season and a humid and more temperate one. The rainy season extends from October to May and the dry season from May to October.

Palestine is even more favored than California with regard to the winter temperature. Although the thermometer rises as high in summer in Palestine as in California, with extremes of 110 degrees to 115 degrees F., though not so often, it very rarely drops in the winter to the freezing point. Snow is rare, even on the plateaus, and our farmers are practically safe from any damage by frost over nearly the entire extent of the country.—From Aaron Aaronsohn's "Agricultural and Botanical Explorations in Palestine."

A Generous and Charitable Wish.
"I wish all might know of the benefit I received from your Foley's Kidney Remedy," says I. N. Regan, Farmer, Mo. His kidneys and bladder gave him so much pain, misery and annoyance, he could not work nor sleep. He says Foley's Kidney Remedy completely cured him. Sold by Howard Gardner.

Bloobs—"Worry will make anybody thin." Slobbs—"Except those who marry because they are fat."

A merciless murderer is Appendicitis with many victims. But Dr. King's New Life Pills kill it by prevention. They gently stimulate stomach, liver and bowels, preventing that clogging that invites appendicitis, curing Constipation, Headache, Bilioussness, Chills. 25c at Fariss-Klutznick Drug Co.

PLEAD NOLO CONTENDERE IN GAMBLING CASES

Three Defendants Before Judge Eure on This Charge—Decision Reserved.

In Municipal Court yesterday morning in a case against R. W. Glenn, Carter Dalton and Upton Staples, in which the defendants were charged with gambling, a plea of nolo contendere was entered by the defendants and Judge Eure reserved his decision until later. No evidence was brought out and neither of the defendants appeared in court, being represented by counsel, Col. F. P. Holbrook, who entered the plea.

The arrest was made Sunday morning shortly after five o'clock by Officers McFarland, Hepler and Patterson. The parties were found in a room in the Benbow hotel building.

The room is located on the west side of the hotel building and owing to some recent additions to the rear of stores in the block the second story rooms on the rear are somewhat easy of approach and an officer found it easy to get a look inside, seeing that cards were being played and gathering from the conversation that the chips that were being used represented money.

It is claimed on behalf of the defendants that they were merely playing a social game. They are all three young men and as they have never been before the court before, clemency on the part of the court is being strongly urged.

Will Wilson, colored, who on Monday was fined $12.50 for "shooting craps," was yesterday ordered by Judge Eure sent to the roads for a term of 60 days, the road sentence being in default of fine, which the negro was unable to pay.

Mr. Glenn's Funeral.

The funeral of Mr. F. F. Glenn, whose death occurred on Monday morning, was held from Center church, south of the city, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A large number of friends were present to pay their last tribute of respect. The interment followed in the church graveyard.

Dr. A. Marshall Elliott Very Ill.

The Baltimore Sun says: "There was no change yesterday in the condition of Dr. A. Marshall Elliott, of Johns Hopkins University, who is ill at his home, 1028 North Calvert street. He is still in a serious condition."

Dr. Elliott is a brother of Mrs. A. E. Leichter of this city.

HOW TO GET FAT.

Use Samose, Says Druggist Gardner and Put on Good Flesh.

The almost universal interest in physical culture is the best evidence that can be offered as to the need of a simple and scientific method of making thin people fat, increasing strength and restoring health.

Athletics, when carried to an extreme, often results in straining the vital organs. How much better it would be for the average person to regain health, strength and flesh by using Samose. This flesh-forming food is assimilated as soon as it enters the stomach; it helps the organs to assimilate the food and extract the flesh-forming elements; it builds up the muscles and rounds out the limbs into shapely plumpness.

Samose has been so successful in making thin people fat and restoring the weak and run-down to strength and health that Howard Gardner, the popular druggist, sells it under his personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not benefit.
